SERGIO STATES VIEWS ON WOMEN'S ROLE TODAY

"If the men have ruined the country it is the women's fault because they did not influence them in the right direction," said Miss Lisa Sergio, internationally known radio commentator, at the 11 a. m. convocation Tuesday.

Miss Sergio was the official interpreter for Benito Mussolini before she came to the United States about 13 years ago. She discussed the psychology used by Mussolini to gain his power.

Miss Sergio further stated that before the time of Mussolini the life of Italian women was one of slavery. However, when he came into power prevailing bad conditions were greatly improved. By letting the women know that they had power enough to influence his decisions, he won their confidence.

Miss Sergio feels that this story of Mussolini and the women of Italy clearly exemplifies the strength of the feminine world. She believes that by placing more power in the hands of the women and by educating them the world's economic security can be improved.

Square Dance Set for Wednesday

"Li'l Abner" is the theme of Wednesday night's square dance in the gym. The decorations will feature characters from the Li'l Abner comic strip, according to Sally Loucks, chairman of the event. Refreshments will be on sale at the dance.

MISS LOUCKS B. Shumway's orchestra. He will also call the dances.

Music will be furnished by C. B. Shumway's orchestra. He will also call the dances. Committee members working on the event are Nancy Love, Bob Olson, Roger Lillehel, Gwen Fredrickson and Jim Bianco.

UMD CONCERT SERIES CAMPAIGN TO CONTINUE

The UMD Concert Series committee completes the second week of their ticket campaign today. Phyllis McEldowney is student chairman of the committee.

The committee has announced that sales will be continued for a few more days at the booth in the first floor hall, Main building, so that more students may gain membership.

Attractions for the concert series are chosen from outstanding artists currently available to audiences of this country. Season tickets are $3, with five concerts scheduled for the year.

In urging students to take advantage of membership, the committee emphasizes, for the benefit of those who are unfamiliar with the series, that admission is by season ticket only. This procedure is the same as that followed last year.

Council of Five to Stage Gala Picnic

UMD's Inter-fraternity-sorority council is sponsoring a picnic for all member groups today at 6 p. m. The outing will be at Jay Cook park.

Clyde Wisch, a member of Gamma Theta Phi fraternity, is in charge of arrangements for the picnic.

Members of the five groups will meet at Washburn hall at 6 p. m. to secure rides to the park. Anyone who has a car is urged to pick up other students who plan to attend.

The five members of the Council are Sigma Psi Gamma, Delta Beta Gamma, Beta Phi Kappa, Sigma Phi Kappa and Gamma Theta Phi.

PROBLEMS FOR PROGRESS SAYS VAN VALKENBERG

"A country needs a problem," declared Dr. Van Valkenburg, noted geographer, at the 8 p. m. convocation Monday.

He felt that a country lacking a pressing problem to work on will not progress. He criticized the almost smug self-satisfaction of Switzerland and Sweden, who remained neutral in the last war.

He briefly touched on the mystery of Russia's friendly at-

Homecoming Events Slated

"Can Cordia" will be the official slogan for UMD's fourth annual homecoming which will get underway Monday with the button campaign. The maroon and gold buttons will sell for 25 cents.

Organizations may begin their queen campaigns Monday. They will last until Thursday when the elections take place. Voting will be by activity cards only. The deadline for nominations is noon today.

Homecoming festivities will be given an added impetus at a pep convocation on Tuesday at 11 a. m. Mary Swanstrom and Dick T. Todd are co-chairmen for this program. A number of entertaining acts will be offered along with the presentation of the football team and cheerleaders.

A "Li'l Abner" dance will be held in the gym Wednesday night.

The homecoming queen convocation, will be held Thursday at 11 a. m., and will feature the presentation of the queen candidates to the student body. An equal amount of time will be allotted for the presentation of each candidate. Dick Wallin is in charge of the convocation.

The crowning of the queen—slated for 7:30 Friday night in the auditorium—will be a highlight of the Varsity show. A bonfire at Chester Park will conclude Friday's events.

Saturday at 2 p. m. the homecoming parade will begin at Ninth Avenue East. The parade will run from east to west this year, for the first time, following the example set by the Centennial parade committee.

The big event of the week, the homecoming game with Concordia, will be held in the Public Schools Stadium Saturday. Game time is 7:30 p. m.

The homecoming dance Saturday night at the National Guard Armory will conclude the celebration.

University Theater Names Cast for Initial Production

The cast for the farce-comedy, "The Male Animal," has been selected, with the exception of two bit parts, according to Dr. Harold L. Hayes, University Theater advisor.

Portraying the leading roles are: John Duncan as Tommy Turner, JoAnn Hella as Ellen Turner, David Wood as Joe Ferguson and Mary Miller as Patricia Stanley.

Supporting parts have been assigned as follows: Cleota, Beverly Evans; Wally Myers, Rodney Giddings; Dean Frederick Damon, Lawrence LaFave; Michael Barnes, Herbert Taylor; Mrs. Blanche Damon, Dolores Campbell; Ed Keller, Joe Shannon, and a newspaper reporter, Nickerson Bailey.

Rerearsals got underway last Tuesday night; they are open to visitors and anyone wishing to come is welcome.

The setting of the play is in a midwestern university town

DUNCAN a special $2.00 rate, tax included; they may be purchased from any member of the University Theater. This represents a saving of $1.00 as tickets will be 75 cents for students and faculty at the door.

An added feature is that each purchaser will be allowed four attendances to three plays which means you may bring a friend to one of the productions.

Herb Taylor Will Emcee Varsity Show

Plans for the 1950 Varsity Show are moving on schedule, but there are still openings for additional acts, according to an announcement issued this week by co-chairman Mary Lou Ellingson.

The show, which takes place in the Auditorium next Friday at 7:30, will be highlighted by the announcement and coronation of UMD's 1950 Homecoming Queen.

Herb Taylor, master of ceremonies, will introduce a variety of skits and musical acts, in addition to the usual comic patter.

Among the featured attractions at the event will be Terry Evanson and his orchestra, two selections by the Orchesis dance society, a skit entitled "If Men Played Cards as Women Do," repartee and insult battle-to-the-death by the master of ceremonies and Dick Heim, successor to Chuck Baznik.

NOTICE

The time for homecoming queen election has been changed from Friday to Thursday, Oct. 26. Voting will be from 12 until 4 p. m.

Four New Faculty Appointments Made

Dr. John F. King, acting provost, announces four new appointments in the division of science and mathematics.

Two former UMD students have been appointed to teaching positions here. They are Frank Kupka, an instructor in chemistry, and Charles Turcotte, an instructor in physics.

Kupka received his B.S. here in 1947 and his M.S. from Cornell university. He has been an instructor at Bemidji state teachers college.

Turcotte, a 1950 UMD graduate, had assisted in the physics department in the last two years.

Dr. Sallie Fisher, assistant professor of chemistry, received her Ph. D. from the University of Wisconsin. She formerly taught at Mt. Holyoke college.

Mr. Robert Haltiner is the new instructor in mathematics. He is a graduate of St. Thomas, where he also taught.

Faculty Members Attend Conference

Six UMD faculty members attended the second Fall Conference of College Teachers of Language and Literature in the Northwest, Oct. 13 and 14.

The conference was sponsored by the department of language on the main campus. It was held in Coffman Memorial union. Delegates from Minnesota, North Dakota, South Dakota, Wisconsin, Michigan and Manitoba attended.

UMD teachers attending were Dr. Rosenthal, Miss Banks, Dr. Frogner, Dr. Bach, Dr. McConaughy and Dr. Salz.

Lack of Enthusiasm Bemoaned . . .

A Spirited Homecoming

The third annual homecoming is crying at our door like the proverbial wolf! Are we prepared for it? Why, yes, you answer—just check the front page of this paper and you'll find that all the annual events are scheduled and ready to roll—but are they?

● The maroon and gold button campaign.

This really should be the least of our worries—with a few eager salesmen and about 500 students with an extra 25-cent piece in their pockets, this kick-off event should go over with a bang instead of a loud thud from falling flat on its face.

Well — if we're lucky, perhaps 200 people that don't have anything better to do will wander into the Aud . . . but we don't know why . . . certainly not because there has been any publicity for it.

Undoubtedly, it is just as well that not many people have heard about this — after all, everybody knows our gym isn't very big.

● And now . . . the Queen situation.

We use the word situation because that is just what it is—and a deplorable one, too!

In fact from the looks of things, we're not going to have to tax our minds too hard to decide where to mark our X on the ballot—meaning that we are lucky if, by noon today, we have enough candidates to make it a contest.

There's the story—but it doesn't have to be that way; we still can salvage our fourth annual homecoming by bolstering up our spirits and plunging into the thick of the activities and making this bigger, better and more magnificent than any of the three preceding homecomings. It is up to YOU and You and you—the UMD student body!

Morbid Mammalogists Mummify Massacred Quadrupeds

Do you like fresh air and lots of exercise? Do you like animals, especially dead ones? If you do, Zoology 70, American Mammals, is your meat.

But you've got to deliver the goods. Besides covering the origin, characteristics, physiology, habits, and habitats of American mammals, you've got to scare up (if it doesn't scare you first) some twenty-four mammal skulls, fourteen mammal skins and five stomachs (burp!), to fulfill the requirements of the course.

The Nortondale Tract, home of the Science Building, has been designated the locale for the hunting and trapping of these skins and skulls. Standard equipment for the course includes twenty household mousetraps. Anything not erect, and smaller than the average forty-pound dog had better beware of all the territory encompassed by St. Marie Street, Allen Street, Woodland Avenue, and the Nortondale Road.

Once the animals have been trapped or traded, they are used in the laboratory for closer observation upon their physiological details. We wonder what they'll do if all the furry beasts of the district should heed our warning.

Eleven students—all males—have registered for this course. Parenthetically, we wonder if this fact doesn't indicate a greater sadism in the male of the species.

Professor P. B. Hofslund, UMD ornithologist instructing the course, reports that a hoary bat specimen, a rare mammal in this area, was recently acquired by the Science department. The bat, first to be recorded in St. Louis county and the sixth in the state, was bagged when it reportedly crashed into Duluth's Aerial bridge. Currently writing a book on birds in this area, Professor Hofslund plans to follow it with a volume on mammals in this area.

Laying Our Clubs on the Table

By HERB TAYLOR

This week we resume our unofficial Freshman Orientation with an examination of the various student organizations on this campus. School spirit is developed to a high degree at UMD, and almost every student belongs to several of the following organizations.

If you are not an active participant in school activities, it probably indicates that you have some foolish ideas about being in college to get an education or to improve your mind, or something of that sort. Worse yet, you may have the insidious notion that college prepares you for a respected position in society, or even that it may lead to a job. Nothing could possibly be more mistaken.

If you are a girl, you are in college to find a husband; if a boy, chances are you are trying to avoid the draft. With these clear objectives in mind, lose no time in affiliating with one of the following clubs.

The Young Republicans. Members of this group are as American as hot dogs, Mom, and apple pie. They believe in Prosperity, Brotherhood, and the Nobility of the Common Man. They meet on Tuesday nights.

The Young Democrats. Members of this group are as American as hot dogs, Mom, and apple pie. They believe in Prosperity, Brotherhood, and the Nobility of the Common Man. They meet on Wednesday nights.

The Young Mugwumps. This group believes in a strong central government composed of sovereign states; prohibition and municipal liquor stores; free enterprise and government supervision of industry. Ninety-eight per cent of the students on campus belong to this group. They meet on Tuesday or Wednesday nights.

The A.W.M.M. The Association of Washburn Majors and Minors assembles every school day in Washburn Hall, and is dedicated to the consumption of nicotine and caffeine, and to the promotion of class cutting and convo avoidance. All but .166 per cent of UMD students belong to this club, and he's just an old grind.

Spanish Flyers Club. Membership in this organization is open to all descendants of pilot-veterans of the Spanish-American War. It has been rather inactive since 1924 because of inadequate membership.

The Crew Team. A special appeal is offered by the crew team to those students who are endowed with a strong back and a weak resistance to the charms of college athletics. Highlight of the year is the race with Death Valley Polytech, held each December in the Duluth ship canal. Oarsmen of outstanding ability are admitted to the honorary crew fraternity, Rho, Rho, Rho.

Entertainment Previews

Opening Wednesday night, October 25, at the Duluth Armory is the first of Jay Lurye's Winter Theater presentations. Pleasant entertainment will be yours when Hildegard, accompanied by her own orchestra, sings and plays the songs in the style that have made her world-famous. Tickets may be purchased at the special student rate of 1.00 including tax for each performance or $3.00 including tax for the entire series of five attractions.

Good news for all you music lovers and all others who would learn to enjoy the auditory art. Free tickets for the Duluth Symphony Orchestra Concert tonight may be obtained at the office of Student Personnel. Tickets are limited to 250 a concert. Altogether the Convocation department has purchased 1,750 individual seats for the seven concerts which means that there will be at least one for every student in the school.

As usual, the Lakeside Art Theatre has scored again by bringing J. Arthur Rank's "The Hidden Room" to Duluth. Robert Newton and Sally Gray are starred in the leading roles.

If you plan on attending clip the coupon from page 4 and benefit by the 30-cent reduction in the price of the ticket.

FORECASTING DEPT. . . .

The new heating system located in (and scattered about) strategic points throughout Ol' Main has promoted odds at 4 to 1 that it will be a c-o-l-d winter.

OUR OWN DEPT. . . .

The Flame (read and afford to bear it) currently offers Jim Quigley and Don Sundquist singing melodies from the two top musical scores of the day, "South Pacific" and "Oklahoma." This trio forms part of a sextet which has caused something of a mild sensation in the night-clubber circuit. They do five shows per eve in costume.

"HOME SWEET HOMESTEAD" . .

T's true, Beta Phi Kappa is the initial, one and only existent frat house on the campus. This marks a milestone of planning for President Bill Holes and housewarming will inaugurate the grand opening tonight. Secretary Dick Skagerberg reports Beta Phi's future will be determined after this shindig!

DEPT. OF CRUCIAL INFO . . .

All "Pied Pipers" are ordered to report to the Science Building at once. It seems Dick E. Todd is having trouble keeping his little white rats in captivity for his Senior Seminar Psych. course.

REAL SPORT! . . .

A person (of this we have some doubt), name of Cedric L., while attending the UMD-Mac football game started rooting in the fourth quarter with UMD trailing 6-27, "Put in the 1st string—Put in the 1st string!" Note: We wish to notify Cedric that Frosh football starts this week.

MODESTY IN ACTION . . .

After the Mu Delta Pi Initiation dinner, Don Cook conducted a good humor hour which has left Dr. Odlaug blushing yet! Ask a Mu Delt.

WASHBURN WOES . . .

"The Washburn Major" is again at large this year. The usual hodge-podge of humanity continues to draw their lungs out on the market's best (and worst) cigarettes. Age-old chief request is for comfortable lounge furniture adaptable to snoozing, while the chief complaint is fanny fatigue.

Dear Editor:

What this country needs is a good five-cent cup of coffee. Time was when you could get your caffeine pick-me-up for the twentieth part of a dollar. No more. Nowadays it takes six cop-pers for a schooner of java.

The ignominy of it all! I, for one, would rather pay a dime than that degrading additional penny. Never was Abraham's effigy so basely used.

What do they do with the additional one cent? Does it go to the Community Fund? The American Foundation for Indigent Chimneysweeps? Is it used to defray the expenses of bribing the meat inspector? Has Brazil slapped on an export tariff?

I call for a competent investigation of this situation. On what grounds? The ones you find floating in that six-cent coffee, naturally.

UMD-Y CLUB WILL HOLD MEETING MONDAY

The UMD-Y club, a member of the association of the National Student council of the YMCA, will hold its first meeting of the year at the YMCA Monday, Oct. 23, at 5:45. The meeting will be a combined supper and business meeting.

The UMD chapter of this group was organized last spring quarter. This year's officers are Chuck Jeronimus, president; Allan Johnson, vice-president; Dick Miller, secretary-treasurer; Bob Halgren, student council representative, and Don Gibson, member at large. Advisors are Mr. H. D. Fayle, faculty advisor and Mr. George McBride, general secretary of the YMCA.

The UMD-Y is a fellowship of students and faculty members who, by study, worship and service are seeking to understand Christ and to serve their fellow men on campus.

Some of the many activities the organization has planned for the year are foreign student dinner, intra-mural sports, a splash party or recreation in the YMCA gym once a month and student-faculty fireside talks.

UMD Concert Series

Dec. 6—Dimitri Markevitch, one of Europe's best cellists.

Jan. 23—Helen Clayton, soprano, and Howard Jarratt, tenor, in a joint recital featuring costumed scenes from opera, in English.

Feb. 28—The Pasquier trio, a well-known string trio composed of three brothers possessing high musicianship and technical skill.

April 10—Yi Kwei Sze, a young Chinese baritone who has a record of top performances including a Carnegie hall recital.

Students may also obtain tickets for any members of their families, according to the committee.

Twin Ports Churches Name LSA Counselor

Miss Mertice E. Schmidt of St. Joseph, Mo., has been appointed to work with Twin Ports Lutheran Student association groups as a full-time counselor, under the sponsorship of 20 Duluth churches of the National Lutheran council and several Superior churches.

Formerly LSA worker at the University of Colorado, Denver, Miss Schmidt has had extensive experience in counseling work. She will divide her time between the Superior and UMD campuses.

NEW CADET SOCIAL CLUB ELECTS WEBER PRESIDENT

By HARRY E. BRUSELL

Recognition of the need for closer ties between all Cadets enrolled in UMD's four-year Air ROTC program has led to the formation of a new Cadet social club, as yet unnamed.

Nearly doubled ROTC enrollment and the recent limiting of membership in the national honorary fraternity, the Arnold Air society, to qualified advance-course students has served to place basic Cadets out of touch with upper class activities.

According to Major Everett T. Delaney, head of the Department of Air science and tactics, the new club will breach this gap, enabling all Cadets to take part in the manifold social activities and projects formerly sponsored exclusively by the senior Arnold Air society.

Evidence of the new club's important role in coming ROTC social affairs at UMD was recently indicated at two organizational meetings of the entire Corps, when plans were formulated for participation in Homecoming activities as well as for undertaking sponsorship of the annual "Sweetheart of the Corps" contest and Military Ball, major projects of the Corps during the school year.

The meetings also resulted in the election of a slate of officers to administer the new club during its first year of existence. Elected president was Cadet Ronald Weber, who as a Cadet lieutenant last May was designated a Distinguished Military Student at the ceremonial parade and review of the Corps.

Weber is an Air Science IV senior majoring in Business Engineering. Other officers: Cadet Bob Leestamper, vice-president; Cadet Lee Gisvold, secretary; and Cadet George Moore, treasurer.

Other business accomplished at the meetings included the drafting of a constitution for the new club by a steering committee composed of Cadets Robert E. Reed, Bill Smith, Dudley Johnson and Bruce Potter, and election of class representatives to the Executive board. Spokesman for Air Science I students will be Charles Bailey; Air Science II, Dudley Johnson; Air Science III, Lee Opheim; and Air Science IV, Peter T. Julsen, Jr. Cadet Rey Roulston was elected the club's Student council representative.

Major Delaney has announced that present Arnold Air society members will elect new members from the ranks of Air Science III Cadets at the end of either the fall or winter quarter.

FIRE DRILLS

Because of the extreme fire hazard in Old Main a number of fire drills will be held in the near future. All students and faculty are requested to co-operate in making these drills a success by becoming familiar with all fire drill regulations and the location of all stairways, exits, fire extinguishers, and hoses.

POSTERS AND NOTICES

It is the policy of the Duluth Branch to prohibit the posting of notices, posters, etc., on any painted walls because of discoloration or possible damage to wall surfaces. Notices may be posted on appropriate bulletin boards, on the tops of lockers, and upon wood trim. Scotch tape must be used for mounting on wood trim. In all cases, care must be taken to refrain from damaging property. Door windows are reserved for posting emergency University official notices only. Notices not posted according to these regulations will be removed.

DROP-ADD

The last day for dropping courses or changing them to an audit will be Nov. 13.

CHANGE OF ADDRESS

It is the responsibility of students to keep the Student Personnel Office informed of any change of temporary or permanent address.

All fees must be paid by Monday, Oct. 23. Students will not be allowed to attend classes after this date unless tuition is paid.

ATTENTION, GRADUATING SENIORS

All seniors who expect to complete their graduation requirements at the end of this quarter are to obtain applications for degrees in Room 213. Seniors pursuing the teaching profession should get their applications for teaching certificates from Miss Hanson in Room 215.

PHYSICAL EXAMINATIONS

Seniors who expect to graduate between now and end of summer session should make an appointment for their physical examinations. Please make your appointment at the Health Service.

CHEERLEADING TRYOUTS

Cheerleading tryouts will be held at the regular Bakers club meeting Tuesday, 7:30 p. m., in Washburn.

GEOLOGY TRIP RESULTS IN FIND

The discovery of a well-preserved lower jaw, belonging to an extinct vertebrae dating back 30-35 million years, highlighted the recent six-day field trip of eight geology students under Dr. Robert L. Heller, assistant professor of geology.

The find was made by John Greisbach, at Battleiron, South Dakota.

Five hundred pounds of mineral specimens obtained from numerous South Dakota mines visited were returned to the University, for use in the classroom. The most unusual and interesting specimens will be placed on display near the geology classroom.

ATTENTION ALL FRESHMEN!

Ken Lyse, bonfire committee chairman, urges all freshmen to attend the Wood-Drum in Chester Bowl at 10 a. m. Sunday, Oct. 22. Remember that the success of the homecoming bonfire depends on your class.
